about us

TR Corporation is an $85M diversified business delivering technology solutions via six specialised brands, to large business and government clients across the Asia Pacific region.

our locations

TR Corporation has offices located throughout mainland Australia, New Zealand and Malaysia, with authorised channel partners for selected product ranges in locations as diverse as the US, Poland and South America.

Each country has a slightly different distribution model, to suit their local product mix. For example in Australia there is a central Customer Service Centre and inventory warehouse, managing day-to-day product inquiries and product distribution. Additionally the 30 plus TR branches located throughout the Asia Pac region contain business development teams for each brand, and experienced technical installation and service staff to provide after-sales support.

In Australia and New Zealand the group's six brands are all represented, with Malaysia at this stage exclusively test and measurement, and calibration.

our history

TechRentals was originally established in Australia in 1972 as a distributor and repairer of test and measurement equipment. Over the years the company expanded to New Zealand and Malaysia, creating the region's largest test equipment rental organisation.

In 2005 TR Corporation was formed as a new parent company, with a goal of building a unique group offering a range of complimentary technical solutions to our wide commercial customer base. Thus a period of acquisition commenced, with businesses including Bearcom, MineCom, Hirecom, Skycomm and Vidcom joining the TR group. In all, more than ten unique medium sized businesses have joined the group since May 2005.

Each new business has added to our capacity to offer either a new solution, or greater expertise in an existing one. Some of the acquired brands have maintained their name, whilst others have merged. The acquisition program has seen TR Corporation grow to become the Asia Pacific regions most dynamic technology solutions group, with vast capacity to sell a diverse range of solutions to large commercial and government clients.

working with us

our company culture

Given our background as a group of small to medium enterprises who've joined together, TR Corporation is a down to earth organisation who values results over corporate images. That's not say we aren't extremely proud of what we do, we just don't get too hung up on expensive offices or a huge management pyramid.

Our friendly team of over 300 staff work in a relaxed semi-corporate environment and are as diverse as our product range. Along side the usual support functions sit highly qualified technical engineering staff, event staff, sales teams and specialised technology product managers. Plus of course the people in the background who make it all happen in warehousing and customer support.

Employee benefits differ by country but can include supported career-oriented postgraduate study, professional association memberships and attractive purchase options on the great technology gadgets we rent and sell. Your local office can tell you more.
